

The Mongol Rally 2015

Team Top Hat Explorers

A fantastic opportunity to help an extraordinary charity!

What is the Mongol Rally?

The Mongol Rally thunders 12,000 miles across the mountains, desert and steppe of Europe and Asia each summer. There's no backup, no support and no set route; just you, your fellow adventurers and a tiny car you bought from a scrap yard for £11.50. No tarmac, ABS and gadgets that help you find your navel. The Mongol Rally is about getting lost, using your long neglected wits, raising shed loads of cash for charity and scraping into the finish line with your vehicle in tatters and a wild grin smeared across your grubby face.

We estimate that it will take six weeks to drive from London to Ulan- Ude!

Who are the top hat explorers?

Richard Matthews

Richard is from Teignmouth, 21 and probably the craziest of us all. He came up with the idea of completing the rally and formed our team last year.

Fact: He has completed the Arctic challenge in Sweden; this involved trekking and sleeping outside in -28 degrees! All to raise money for Rowcroft Hospice.

Mitchell Hockin

Mitchell is from Newton Abbot, 21 and the travelling cost controller of the group. He is out on a mission to help other young people who have also suffered from cancer.

Fact: He has driven over 3500km around Iceland in a week!

James Smith

James is from Teignmouth, 21 and our mobile mechanic and chef. Hopefully we will be kept well fed and the car will be kept well maintained!

Fact: He has recently completed a charity skydive from 15,000ft to raise money for Rowcroft Hospice

Our Route

Sponsorship and fundraising

The Mongol Rally may be a real adventure for us but it is all to raise money for charity; In fact, Mongol Rally teams have collectively raised over £10 million for charities across the world in the last 10 years!

We will be raising money for The Teenage Cancer Trust (A charity that our team member Mitchell supported throughout his treatment for cancer last year). They are a fantastic charity and help thousands of children and teenagers with cancer.

An adventure like this will also require a large list of equipment and resources such as, a vehicle, camping gear, food, fuel, visas and much, much more! The ways that you can get involved are all below.

How you can you get involved?

Please sponsor us to help us raise our goal of £10,000 for the teenage cancer trust! You can sponsor us by donating to us personally or online through Just Giving direct to the Teenage Cancer Trust.

If you have any spare or unwanted camping and outdoor equipment that you think could help us on the way please donate it to us!

Help us spread the word to raise awareness of our goals to help us raise as much money as possible!
